The artists and their string canvases

What Is String Art? Musical instruments that no longer have a performance value, including violins, cellos, guitars and more, become the canvases for visual works of art. Fifty local artists have volunteered their time and creative talents. Design concepts are as creative and unique as each artist's imagination. The sky was the limit when it came to transforming each instrument into a fabulous work of art. All proceeds from the String Art Event will benefit the Richmond Symphony.

26. Brian Korte "Sonata in Blue"

Brian creates unique portraits and artwork using Lego bricks. Through his Richmond company Brickworkz LLC, Brian designs Lego art for clients around the world, including Fortune 500 companies. "Sonata in Blue" contains a backdrop of 4,150+ individually placed Lego bricks and represents the bold beauty of music.
